Absolutely nothing. His tone shows a negative, but is in 1st person so the approach to life.
That's something very realistic that drives me crazy. When people say something twice that way, after you admit it more of the mood.

This allows the audience to feel more the author uses the Character development to tell story through he said it 3 times, his outlook, personality.

Figurative language is used to show the
At first he refers to Mr. Spencer, it real moocn, all figures of speech, double meaning then he turns around to mixed feelings that are a bunch of worth less efforts.
