Journeys

by Mr. Keel

Throughout my life, I have taken many journeys. Since I was born in Japan, I think traveling is in my blood. I want to see the world and everything in it.

I have taught school in Asia, been sent abroad in Thailand and tried to discover the secret of the ruins at Machu Picchu. But the greatest journey is the one of life and the people you meet. Friends, families and citizens of the world all help to make life exciting and valuable.

And that’s why reading is so important to me. It’s a way to understand others and make sense of your own journey.

I hope mine never ends.
dolphins
I like them.
Ask me why.
Because they are streamlined and playful and like to travel
Because they are curious!
Because they can.
Because they want to know!,
Because they go through the ocean, traveling the world!
Because they they want all they can get out of life!
Because they are glorious
Because they rock!
Because.
Because
Because. That's why
I like dolphins